The documents reprinted by us vesterday

from the Government Gazette show-that the Secretary of State for the Colonies has anproved some modifications in the Grant-in-aid Scheme which had been suggested by Bishon RATMONDI. The alterations are such as, and Tatsien lu in Western China, with a fair while not affecting other denominations, will enable the Roman Catholics to accept the advantages of the grants-in-aid, and honce no objection can be taken to them. It i satisfactory to note, however, that Sir Mr. regions It is bowever extremely unfortangle

It will be time enough to consider the propriety of augment g these fees after the Roman Catholics high officials will shortly be appointed Ambasbave come into the scheme, if upon a fair granted are unreasonably low, or are arranged as to operate unfairly to their schools." The fees have already been raised, and are now, as Sir Michael save, on a really liberal scale. The denominational schools cannot expect to be placed on precisely the same footing as the Government justitutions, or the former claim the right of self-management, and if they retain that privilege the utmost they have a right to look for is the substantial pecuniary support they receive under for this is found in the time and study required the Grant-in-Aid System. It should be the aim of every civilised administration to foster the growth of education, and this obligation has been most fully recognised by the British Government. There is now little ground for complaint on this score-among any class or religious denomination in the British

We note that His Excellency the Governor in a minute, dated the 28th March last, says that Dr. Srewarr, having the views of the Secretary of State on the resolutions of the Persons of observing dispositions will often have noticed that pig-drivers in Canton almost invariably carry a kind of bamboo-basket in their left hand in addition to the stick in their right. The explanation is that in the narrow streets it is often necessary to rap the snouts of the animals rather smartly to prevent their entering a shop or house. The hand could not well be angry animal, and a stick only inforiates it the mige, so the above mentioned article is used to give the desired blow or stop the nostrils of the brute. Hongkong, 23rd January, 1880. HOME AND CHINA AFFAIRS.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT. LONDON, 12th December, 1879; The leading topics of the week are, the lataftempt on the life of the Czar, Mr. Gladstone's tour in the North, and the precarious position of the French dinistry. THE CZAR AND HIS PEOPLE.

Regarding the attempt on the Czar's life; the telegraph will have supplied the outlines, long ore this will reach China. It would appear that the Imperial cortege consisted; as usual under the circumstances, of two trains, one containing the Caar and his personal suite, the other the bargage and servants. The latter named, as a rule presented the Inquecial train, for the purpose-dearing the line. On the late occasion, however the engine of the baggage train was defective in speed, and the Emperor, being impatient to reach Moscow, directed that it should be shunted so that the State train might precede it. Consequently the conspirators allowed the first train to pass, and fired their mine on the baggage train. An empty house, whonce the mine was spring, stands close to the line, but its examination lends no clue to the discovery of the conspirators. Three arrosts have been made, but if the particulars given be correct, I should say the police are upon the wrong scent.

The Russian Authorities attempted to keep the affair entirely secret, and even now will not allow the newspapers to mention it. The ex-Slosion must have been severe, ingamuch as a cavity was made in the ground about sixteen foot square and four and a half feet deep, videlicet 1,150 cubic feet. One carriage was amushed to atoms, and seventeen were thrown in the utmost confusion off the line, and yet the Russian W. H. Forbea, sole acting executor of the estate | Authorities insist on the public believing that nchody was either killed or hurt. As a matter of course, all the leading journal of Europe express the atmost horror at this attempt at assassination. I think such lob sided humanity should be taken at its proper value and no more. There are thousands of men in Russia who have seen their nearest and dearest relations driven like sheep to wars for the relief of Christians who were far better off than themselves. These relatives were ornelly secrificed by tens of thousands after intense sufferings ander incapable Grand Dukes, and the sarvivors found the result of their victory to be, the granting of a constitutional form of government to those whom they had bled to relieve, whilst they had to return to Rusia and live under the most autocratic Government conceivable. Vietorious soldiers, have always been allowed to enjoy some tangible and appreciable proofs of their success, but surely history recordeth not such tokens of victory as the Russian army on. loyed after their late complete subjugation of the Turk. They little thought, after crossing the Danabe, after spending a winter before Plevna. after enduring the horrors of passing the Balkans, and the forced march to Constantinople, that the fruits of their victory would consist in the sight of the covoted city at their feet, with the maste of the British squadron in the background and the treaty of Berlin looming in the future! A friend of mine who has marcantile connections with Russia told me a few days since, that a Russian banker who has good means of information told him that the estimate lately given of the Czar's losses by the war with Turkay (say 200,000 men and 225 millions pounds sterling) was notoriously incorrect. The number of men exceeded 300,000, and is probably 350,000. cost cannot possibly be estimated, because so much of the debt is not funded; but it certainly exceeds 300 millions, and is more probably 350,000,000:

I mention this by the way. The Caar emancipated the serfs, because he saw that Russians brought up under serfdom could not face French or British troops. Moreover, he has further elevated the Russian peasant by prometing education, but for no other souse than baving the courage of

ERON AN OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT. London, 12th December, 1879. THE SLAVERY QUESTION IN HONGKONG. The recent elaborate atterance of the Chief Justice of Hongkong on the question of the sale and purchase of girls and women in the Colony, published in your columns, has attracted a good deal of attention, and in some quarters has proxoked excited outories. It need hardly be said that the humanitarian party are up in arms. and Hongkong has at once become, in their estimation, a blot on the fair fame of the Empire. Some of the tirades I have read are silly and extravagant, and the ignorance displayed by the writers atterly inexcusable. Even from what I know of the Coleny from study of the papers, the accounts of friends, and from books, I do not esitate to denounce such articles as that in the Eche, which I forward for your edification, as clap trap. I daresay Sir John Smale is quite right in his action, though I don't quite understand how it was he did not deal with the matter years ago ; but it is obvious enough that the slavery in Hongkong is of a comparatively mild sort, that is, where it takes the form of domestic. servitude. Although many Chinese sailors arrive here in stoamers from the Far East, and the Chinese Legation has now been established in London for some three years, it is seldom that a native if the Flowers Eand is seen in the streets. It is because the Chinaman is still such a rara quis bore probably that when he does appear he attracts so much unwelcome attention from the metropolitan gamins. The other evening as I was walking down the Strand to the Lyceum Theatre I noticed a noisy growd, and on going to see the cause, found it to be a poor innocent Colectial, whose pigtail was proving a source of amesement to a gang of our jous and rough lads, greatly to their unfortanate viotim's embarrassment. The intervention of one of our blue conted guardians of the peace was promptly invoked, and the Chinaman delivered from his tormantors. That long queue is a great source of trouble to the Chinaman abroad. It can so easily be used to his discomfiture. I wonder they don't always roll it up when in a strange country.

CHINA AND HAWAII. I see by the papers last received from China that the Chinese Government are attempting to open up diplomatio relations with King Kalakaa, the dusky potentate of the little island kingdom of Hawaii. The weakest who draws from the mind will excel him-The strongth of mankind is the wisdom they leave For peace do not hope; to be inst you must break i Still work for the minute and not for the year. " When henour comes to you be roady to take it, But reach not to some it before it is near.

Bo silent and cafe; silence never betrays you, Be true to your word and your work and your friend, But least trust in him who is foremost to praise you, Nor judge of a day till it draw to the ond. Stand croot in the vale, nor exult from the mountain, Take gifts with a sigh; most men give to be paid. "I had" is a heartache; "I have" is a fountain; You're worth what you saved, not the millions you Be true to yourself, or your plans will miscarry,

Your wife keep a sweetheart instead of a toase. Rule children by reason, not red; and mind, marry Your girlwhen you can, and your boy when you please.
